Registration Details, Costs, and Accommodations

The Viktor Frankl Institute's Twenty-First World Congress is presenting the internationally recognized theory of Logotherapy, founded by Viktor E. Frankl, MD, PhD, to a truly global audience in search of meaning and purpose in the midst of world-wide terrorism and turmoil. Author of Man's Search for Meaning and 32 other books, Viktor Frankl places at the core of his theory the belief that the primary motivating force of humanity is the search for meaning and purpose in life.

At our biennial World Congress, the atmosphere is always electrifying when participants from more than 30 nations come together as one international family for five memorable days. Included will be individuals from a wide range of disciplines including psychiatry and other medical specialties, nursing and the allied health sciences, psychology, psychotherapy, philosophy, religion, pastoral counseling, counselor education, social work, criminal justice, military personnel, graduate students and others interested in pursuing an elevated awareness of meaning in life.

In addition to covering some of the Institute's costs for the Congress, the registration fee also includes the Presidential Reception, Luncheons on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, the Friday evening Awards Banquet, Saturday's International Fellowship Evening and "Texas Barbeque," the International Friendship Breakfast Buffet on Sunday, a total of 6 meals. Also included is admission to the Keynote Address, all Plenary Sessions, Programs, Contact Sessions, Colloquium Presentations, and Continuing Education credits for those seeking them from the Institute's approved provider organizations. All meals, programs and activities are in the same hotel. This prevents additional expense and the inconvenience of inner-city travel in search of local restaurants and alternate meeting facilities. Cost for registration prior to April 30, 2017 is $545.00. Registration after April 30 is $575.00. Student registration is only $275.00 before April 30, 2017 and $295.00 after that date. (Verification of student status in college or university is required.) Meal tickets for spouses or guests of registered participants will be available for purchase in the Congress Book Store for $35.00 Luncheons, $40.00 Banquet, $30.00 Texas Barbeque, and $25.00 Breakfast Buffet. See the reverse side of this form (page 4) regarding hotel reservations.

From Frankl's Man's Search for Meaning to today's search for peace, we could also add Frankl's emphasis on purpose. "Logos" was borrowed from the Greek language by Frankl to name his theory of Logotherapy. Logos = the overriding moral purpose in the universe. Contemporary therapists agree that finding a purpose marks the turning point in one's recovery. Purpose itself challenges one to go beyond self. Self-transcendence is a powerful human instrument in achieving peace in the midst of terrorism and turmoil in the world. Imagine what participants in our Twenty-First World Congress could accomplish by taking Viktor Frankl's work and sharing it with all who are in need of achieving meaning and purpose and peace.

Related to the Congress theme, The Power of Purpose: Finding Meaning in the Midst of Terrorism and Turmoil, educational objectives will include, although are not limited to, the following topics.

- Achieving inner peace while experiencing personal loss
- Realizing the indestructibility of the human spirit
- Strengthening fellow-humans experiencing crime and terror
- Developing a more meaningful understanding of other cultures
- Learning to accept others' values without relinquishing one's own
- Developing a cross-cultural understanding of value systems that differ from one's own
- Developing a new dimension of understanding during tragedy and crisis (Frankl's "attitudinal modification")
- Preparing military personnel to assist those experiencing combat stress disorder
- Using Logotherapy with veterans and families experiencing Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder
- Meaningfully (Logotherapeutically) intervening with victims of crime and injustice
- Experiencing self-transcendence in love, forgiveness and reconciliation
- Discovering Logotherapy's stance in the midst of crumbling values and traditions
- Understanding and achieving one's authentic self
- Using the human spirit in the healing process
- Pursuing life's destinies after experiencing personal loss
- Extinguishing one's existential vacuum through pursuing meaning and purpose
- Using Logotherapy in divorce recovery
- Experiencing resilience through the defiant power of the human spirit
- Using Logotherapy in substance abuse counseling
- Meaningfully serving the needs of the terminally ill
- Creatively using Logotherapy in the health related disciplines
- Utilizing Logotherapy in the corporate world
- Developing a greater understanding and of awareness of our spiritual ("noetic") self
- Acknowledging an awareness of our three dimensional being

More than any other prominent theory of psychotherapy, Frankl's Logotherapy utilizes the dimension of the human spirit in the healing process. This year's Congress Theme involving Meaning in the Midst of Terrorism and Turmoil challenges us to experience the Power of Purpose in overcoming adversity in a global concept of humanity.

PRE-CONGRESS SEMINARS

(AVAILABLE IN THE FOLLOWING SEQUENCE AS PART OF THE REQUIREMENT FOR THE VIKTOR FRANKL INSTITUTE OF LOGOTHERAPY'S CREDENTIALS KNOWN AS ACADEMIC ASSOCIATE IN LOGOTHERAPY AND DIPLOMATE IN LOGOTHERAPY.)

PRE-CONGRESS SEMINAR: Introduction to Logotherapy, June 13-14, 2017. (Participants in the Introductory course will need to arrive in Dallas on Monday evening, June 12.) Taught by Ann-Marie Neale, PhD, this course is the initial step toward certification as an Academic Associate or Diplomate in Logotherapy. The primary text for the course is Viktor Frankl's Man's Search for Meaning. Continuing Education credit is available for this 15 clock hour course. Educational objectives include: developing an understanding of the basic concepts of the meaning centered approach to life; applying concepts of Franklian psychology to the improvement of life; and, applying these concepts through discussion and written assignments. Additional educational objectives appear in the packet for each student who enrolls for the course. Tuition: $225.00

PRE-CONGRESS SEMINAR: Intermediate Course A, Franklian Psychology: Attitudinal Change will be taught June 12-14, 2017, by Cynthia Wimberly, PhD. (Participants in the Intermediate Course A should arrive in Dallas Sunday evening, June 11, 2017.) Continuing Education credit is available for this 30 clock hour course. The primary texts for the course are Viktor Frankl's Will to Meaning and selected readings provided by the instructor. Educational objectives include: understanding Logotherapy's three-dimensional concept of the human being (soma, psyche, spirit) and its relationship to mental health; identifying the significance of the human spirit in the healing process; and, understanding the existential vacuum and its relationship to meaning. Tuition: $375.00

PRE-CONGRESS SEMINAR: Intermediate Course B, Franklian Psychology: Meaning-Centered Intervention will be taught June 12-14, 2017, by Julius M. Rogina, PhD, and Michael Winters, PhD. Continuing Education credit is available for this 30 clock hour course. Required texts: Viktor Frankl's The Doctor and the Soul (pages 1-175) and Ann V. Graber's Viktor Frankl's Logotherapy: Method of Choice in Ecumenical Pastoral Psychology (available from www.wyndhamhallpress.com and Amazon.com). (Participants will need to arrive in Dallas on Sunday evening, June 11, 2017.) Educational objectives include: demonstrating interpersonal skills that develop intuitive listening, empathic understanding, and Socratic dialogue; applying Franklian strategies and interventions in client's existential analysis; and, evaluating ethical responsibilities to avoid iatrogenic neuroses. Additional educational objectives appear in the packet for each student enrolled in the course. Tuition: $375.00

PRE-CONGRESS SEMINAR: Advanced Course: The Theory and Therapy of Mental Disorders will be taught by Teria Shantall, PhD, June 12-14, 2017. Continuing Education credit is available for this 30 clock hour course. Required texts: Viktor Frankl's The Doctor and the Soul (pages 179-305) and Viktor Frankl's On the Theory and Therapy of Mental Disorders. (Participants will need to arrive in Dallas on Sunday evening, June 11, 2017.) Educational objectives include: referencing the Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders (DSM-V); applying Logotherapeutic methodologies in developing meaning in life; using Logotherapy as a primary and/or supplementary treatment method; and, evaluating Logotherapy as a treatment for specific disorders identified in the DSM-V. Tuition: $375.00

* Books by Dr. Viktor Frankl are available at local bookstores and from Amazon.com.

The Twenty-First World Congress on Logotherapy will open with the Presidential Reception at 8:00 p.m. Wednesday, June 14 ("a celebration of kindred spirits"), and will conclude with our traditional International Friendship Breakfast Buffet beginning at 9:00 a.m. Sunday, June 18. Simultaneous Pre-Congress courses will be taught June 12-14 beginning at 9:00 a.m. Monday, June 12 and concluding at 6:00 p.m. Wednesday, June 14, 2017.
