Ministry Defined

Owing to the accelerated blurring of lines between the sacred and secular in contemporary society, today's professionals are continually pressed to craft a redefinition of the nature and role of their work within this matrix of convergence, which takes account of both personal value-oriented service and public responsibility. The Foundation has, from its inception, chosen to define ministry both within specific faith communities and within the broader society in terms of those professionals involved in human social services in which the practitioner is self-reflectively aware of the nurturing quality of that activity. Individuals who define their professional activity as being of service to the improvement and nurture of society and the world community, including such fields as education, pastoral assignments, chaplaincy, mediation, management, media services, health care and counseling, are recognized by the Foundation as being in ministry.

A.B.D.

Doctor of Philosophy Degree Completion Program

(for those at the “All But Dissertation” level)

All But Dissertation (A.B.D.) indicates incompleteness. According to statistical reports of the various state and government agencies monitoring higher education in the United States, there is an inordinately high percentage of individuals who fail to complete their Ph.D. work after having successfully sustained the doctoral qualifying examinations, completed language requirements, and fulfilled residency coursework. The phenomenon is particularly and disturbingly high in the cognate fields of theology and religious studies.

Time Frame and Tuition The degree may be completed in no less than twelve months and no more than three years.

Tuition: $7,150.00

Thesis Supervision: $1,200.00

Thesis Processing: $550.00

Admission Requirements

The program is built around the integrity of the graduate work completed up to, but not including, the successful defense of the dissertation. Any A.B.D. applicant must meet the following criteria in order to be accepted into the program and defined as a Ph.D. candidate:

1. Appropriate undergraduate and graduate degrees which allow for the pursuit of doctoral work.
2. Completion of all residency requirements for the Ph.D. at a graduate school of religious studies, seminary, or university.
3. Fulfillment of language requirements, if applicable, in compliance with the degree being pursued.
4. Passing of any and all Ph.D. qualifying examinations in preparation for the writing of the thesis.
5. Demonstration of good standing at previous A.B.D. institution.

Program Requirements

Individuals designated as A.B.D. who transfer their credits and records into the A.B.D. program of the Foundation must fulfill the following requirements:

1. Viewing of the Foundation's instructional Orientation video.
2. Submission and approval of thesis proposal.
3. Submission of one electronic copy of the doctoral thesis and required forms (abstract, personal biography, cover sheet, Thesis Supervisor Report Form).
4. Successful defense of the thesis before Foundation faculty in Indiana or our satellite defense locations, or at Oxford during the Summer Programme in Theology. (Students in the A.B.D. program are not required to attend graduation but are welcome to do so.)

Applied Ministries
Franklian Psychology

Description The degree of Doctor of Ministry has become a nationally accepted terminal professional degree for ministry. The uniqueness of the D.Min. program offered by the Graduate Theological Foundation is found in its exclusive orientation toward ministry as a pastoral ecumenical commitment, through specialized study pursued at the numerous residency sites selected by degree candidates. The Foundation is offering an educational experience as a degree program designed specifically to address the needs of ministry in an environment which is supportive and nurturing, but appropriately independent of any one ecclesial body. Degree candidates must commit themselves to the specialized course of study for all four Units of Study. The Doctoral Project must also focus upon the chosen specialization.

Doctor of Psychology (Psy.D.)

Description Increasingly in the professional practice of counseling, the Doctor of Psychology (Psy.D.) is becoming the credential of preference. This emerging emphasis has come about owing to the value and importance of praxis or clinical practical experience placed upon the participant within the degree program. Rather than being a research-oriented degree such as the Ph.D. which is commonly thought of as the required teaching credential, the Psy.D. places fundamental emphasis upon skills training and practical clinical experience within the counseling setting. The Graduate Theological Foundation enters this field owing to the large number of clergy and ministry professionals who have come to seek the Psy.D. because they prefer an educational environment more responsive to their faith awareness needs than is typically exemplified in the secular professional schools of psychology and state university graduate departments. The Psy.D. candidate at the Foundation will encounter a two-fold emphasis: an unrelenting commitment to the academic study of psychology and its clinical practical application to the counseling situation and an equally active emphasis upon the role of the ministry professional as representative of the faith community within the counseling setting. By combining academic training and pastoral awareness, the Foundation's program will offer a unique opportunity for ministry professionals. Individuals must comply with the licensure and/or board certification requirements of the state in which they intend to be engaged in professional counseling.

Participants The Psy.D. program is open to those who have been actively engaged in some form of professional ministry (parish, social service, community outreach, chaplaincy, etc.) for at least five years and who meet the Admission Requirements listed for this degree. The degree is offered exclusively to the already credentialed ministry professional and is in no sense designed for those seeking to enter the field of counseling. Professional counseling and ministry credentials are viewed as prerequisites to entering this course of study with the Foundation.

Time Frame and Tuition The usual time frame for degree programs is a minimum of eighteen months and a maximum of forty-eight months for completion.

Tuition: $8,800.00

Project Processing: $300.00

Admission Requirements

1. Baccalaureate degree or equivalent validated by a transcript.
2. Master's degree in a cognate field of ministry or counseling validated by a transcript.
3. Five years of accumulated experience in full-time professional practice or some form of ministry.
4. Completion of the Application Procedure.

2. Completion of ten Units of Study: two taken through the Graduate Theological Foundation and eight taken through the Foundation or at an approved educational institution.

Doctor of Sacred Music (D.S.M.)

Description The Doctor of Sacred Music is a second level professional degree for persons engaged in parish music ministries as a cantor, director or minister of music, pastoral musician, pastor of worship, organist, etc., or in other contexts in which the individual serves in a sacred music capacity, such as a music missionary. Persons who possess a master's degree in church, liturgical or sacred music, or who have earned a master's degree in another area of music within which sacred music study was undertaken, are welcome to apply. The D.S.M. is designed to enable the candidate to develop a sequence of four units which will focus on an area of sacred music previously lacking in the candidate's training, or focus on taking an area of musical expertise to a higher level. Students may specialize in a performance area, musical composition, research, parish music administration, or other in-ministry concerns. Study for the units may be acquired by attending a traditional graduate level course, by directed study, or through a combination of short-term courses, seminars, workshops, master classes, or private instruction at the institutions of the candidate's choice. Depending on the nature of the plan of studies, the D.S.M. Project may take the form of a recital or a lecture-recital, a choral/instrumental performance, the writing of a traditional thesis, the composition and performance of an original work or set of works, or the development of an in-ministry activity based on the student's particular area of interest and context need.

Partnering Resources In Ministry Education

The P.R.I.M.E. Affiliation

This special type of affiliation allows students to earn their degree from the Foundation by completing all required coursework through a P.R.I.M.E. affiliate. Institutions designated as P.R.I.M.E. provide specializations in specific graduate degree programs such as the Doctor of Ministry, Doctor of Psychology and others. At P.R.I.M.E. institutions, Foundation students may complete all of their Units of Study and fulfill all residency requirements for their graduate degree programs. The following institutions and organizations have been invited to participate in the Foundation's P.R.I.M.E. program. They have been selected on the strength of their educational programs and quality of training faculty. To this distinguished roster of P.R.I.M.E. institutions, other institutions and programs are periodically added based on the Foundation's ongoing assessment of educational training opportunities relevant to our students. The attractiveness of the P.R.I.M.E. affiliation is two-fold, viz., students may do all of their residency and degree requirements at any one of the P.R.I.M.E. affiliated institutions. Those institutions have the advantage, by virtue of their affiliation with the Foundation, of offering their training for the Foundation's degree programs in their own facilities. Descriptions of, and contact information for, P.R.I.M.E. affiliated institutions may be found on the Foundation's website at www.gtfeducation.org under About GTF and then Affiliations.

(E-Tutorials: The final E-Tutorial paper must be received within 30 days of completion of the course in order for the student to receive credit.)

Documented Use of Sources

Students are held to a high standard of performance at the Foundation in the writing of their papers for course requirements. This high standard places the burden of responsibility and accountability upon the student to demonstrate competency in the literature and a capacity to bring critical analysis to the work in hand. If a student has disregarded protocol with respect to primary sources as relates to acceptable documented citations with relevant references, the evaluating faculty has the discretion of returning the work to the student for reworking. No charge of intentional deception is implied in the returning of such work but the student must accept the decision of the evaluating faculty and in turn must resubmit the reworked document for final approval. Failure on the part of the student to rework the document to the evaluating faculty's satisfaction will result in failure to earn credit for the work in hand. Any student wishing to challenge the decision of the evaluating faculty must submit a letter with a detailed explanation of the student's position to the Academic Affairs Committee. Rulings by the AAC are final.

Online Thesis Library

The Foundation requires all academic doctoral degree students (A.B.D., Th.D., Ph.D.) to submit a copy of their successfully defended (or revised and approved) thesis for inclusion in the Online Thesis Library.

Candidates for the Th.D. or Ph.D. (or those in the A.B.D. program) must submit the thesis, in its final form, as an electronic copy to the Foundation. The format of the thesis must be either MS Word (.doc) or Adobe Reader (.pdf).

Transcripts

The Office of the Registrar at the Foundation maintains all records. Alumni and current students of the Foundation should, when requesting a transcript, identify themselves by name, degree program and year of graduation. All requests for transcripts must be received in writing. The transcript reflects all work completed for the degree including all transferred courses.

The cost of having a transcript generated by the Registrar's Office is $10.00 per copy. This includes unofficial as well as official copies in electronic or physical form. No transcript will be issued to third parties without prior written request from the student and payment at the time of request.

Diplomas

- No student may ever receive more than one original copy of the diploma.
- If the Foundation has made an error based on the student's form indicating his/her desired name, title, etc., the Foundation will reprint/replace the diploma free of charge. The reprint/replacement will only be available after the student has sent in his/her flawed diploma.
- If the student wishes to have a new diploma based upon his/her decision to change the original requested name, the Foundation will reprint/replace the diploma for a $25 fee. The reprint/replacement will only be available after the student has sent in his/her flawed diploma.

Counseling Credentials

Individuals must comply with the licensure and/or board certification requirements of the State in which they intend to be engaged in professional counseling.

The State of Indiana and Contract Disclaimer

This Student Handbook is for general information and does not constitute a contract between this institution and the student. The application and interpretation of this Student Handbook is governed by the laws of the State of Indiana affecting the relationship between the institution and the student.

Code of Conduct

Any student conducting himself/herself in such a manner as to cast disparagement or embarrassment upon the Foundation or the College is subject to disciplinary action by the Academic Affairs Committee which may result in censorship, suspension, or expulsion from this institution's courses, activities and programs.

Disciplinary and Grievance Procedures

In the event that the Academic Affairs Committee of the institution determines that disciplinary action must be taken against any student, notification of the intended action, the reason why, and its consequences are to be put in writing to the student. The student may appeal the AAC's decision by submitting a letter to the AAC responding to the charges with copies of the letter to the President and Provost. After further consideration, the student may be asked to appear for a hearing before the AAC in person to answer to the charges and may, at his/her personal discretion, request that the student's Project Consultant, Thesis Supervisor, or a personally chosen member of the faculty to be present at that hearing.

The final decision with regard to the intended action of the AAC must be made by a unanimous vote of the Academic Affairs Committee, the President, the Provost, and where present, the student's representative (Project Consultant, Thesis Supervisor, or Faculty representative). Students may also file a grievance against the Foundation by submitting a letter to the Academic Affairs Committee stating specifically the nature of the grievance. By invitation, the AAC may ask the student to appear before it in an attempt to reach a mutually agreed resolution. Failure to reach a resolution will precipitate a further meeting between the student, the AAC, the President, the Provost (or their representatives), and a student-selected member of the faculty. Failure to reach a resolution at such a meeting will necessitate legal consultation with the student and the institution selecting its own lawyers and initiating action as such legal counsel dictates.

Accreditation

The Graduate Theological Foundation does not hold accreditation from a Department of Education approved accrediting agency.

All GTF degree programs are designed for advanced learning that is self-improving and motivational in nature for fully credentialed professionals in ministry whose common concern is the development of leadership for congregations and communities.

The Foundation and the College

All policies and procedures outlined in this Student Handbook are applicable, where relevant, to both the Foundation and its undergraduate division, Cloverdale College.

Cloverdale College

Undergraduate Division of the Graduate Theological Foundation

The Professional Baccalaureate

Professional baccalaureate degree programs are designed to identify the parameters, and nurture the components, of a professional field of study and training. Rather than building upon a liberal arts core curriculum, the professional degree specifically focuses upon praxis skills needed to function professionally within the chosen field. Whereas a liberal arts education attempts to foster a broad foundation of general studies, the professional degree concentrates on operational skills which address the practical and theoretical demands of the profession being pursued. Ideally, the student coming into a professional degree program will have already been sufficiently exposed to liberal studies such that full attention may be occupied with the professional range of knowledge needed to meet performance expectations within the marketplace. If the interest is in professional skills development, then the professional degree should, quite clearly, be pursued.

Degree Completion Defined

"Degree completion" at Cloverdale College means that the applicant brings five years of post-high school, professional-level experience in a social service ministry or faith community for which the College grants three years of academic credit (90 credits covering the Freshman, Sophomore, and Junior years). The student then completes the final, or Senior, year at the College by taking ten courses (30 credits/240 contact hours) to receive the bachelor's degree. The Cloverdale College bachelor's degree is based on the national standard of 120 credits. Cloverdale College is a degree completion senior-level institution.

Policies of Cloverdale College

College Credit Defined

A contact hour is calculated as clock time combined with study, preparation and interactive time spent in an educational endeavor. The College awards 90 credits for five+ years of paid or volunteer work experience in a social service ministry or faith community. Students must complete the remaining 30 credits of study, under Cloverdale College oversight, from approved colleges, universities, seminaries, recognized and endorsed internet course providers or distance learning course providers in order to graduate.

Deadlines for Academic Work and Fees

Academic work is due no later than February 1 of the year of intended graduation.

Fees are due no later than March 1 of the year of intended graduation.

Note: These dates are not postmark dates, but are the dates by which all academic work and all fees must be received by Cloverdale College.

Application Process for All Undergraduate Degrees

1. Only those who have been in ministry for at least five years may apply. (For a definition of ministry, consult the website.) Students must develop and submit an undergraduate portfolio with the application form to provide evidence of five or more years of applied paid or volunteer work experience in a social service ministry or faith community.
2. Academic transcripts, educational records, or copy of high school diploma are to be submitted to Cloverdale College upon formal application. Applicants must hold a high school diploma, GED or equivalent, for all Cloverdale College programs.

3. A ministry statement is required of all applicants. This statement should express the applicant's own personal commitment to the program chosen and why the applicant feels it would serve his/her professional or personal needs. Ministry experience should be described in detail as part of this statement. This is the central core of the application.

4. Two letters of recommendation are required for all degree programs. These letters may be from a professional colleague, former teacher, member of the parish, or ministry professional. One or both of the required letters of recommendation must verify five or more years of ministry experience.

5. A non-refundable application fee of $40.00 must accompany the application.

NOTE: A completed application file includes the application form, undergraduate portfolio, ministry statement, two letters of recommendation, highest degree transcript/diploma and application fee.

Applications are accepted throughout the year. Evaluation of applications takes approximately two weeks.

Undergraduate Portfolio

As part of Cloverdale College's application process, prospective students are asked to develop an undergraduate portfolio that provides information and documentation of 5 years of post-high school, professional-level experience in a social service ministry or faith community. This experience can include paid employment or volunteer activities. Individuals who define their professional activity as being of service to the improvement and nurture of society and the world community are recognized by the College as being involved in ministry. This definition includes activities in such fields as education, pastoral assignments, chaplaincy, mediation, management, media services, health care and counseling. The College recognizes these 5 years of documented experience as equivalent to the first three years of an undergraduate degree program, and awards 90 credits for this work.

This portion of the application process requires you to reflect upon your professional and personal involvement in your own faith community. It is an opportunity for you to consider and articulate the value of your activities in the wider context of social service for the benefit of a local or global community. In requiring you to document your involvement in your faith community we hope also to reinforce, in your own estimation, the value of the work that you do.

Applicants are asked to write descriptions and details of their previous activities in social service or in their faith community for assessment by the Admissions Committee. For each activity listed in this portfolio, the applicant must include some form of documentation. This can include certificates of completion, transcripts, letters from administrators, religious leaders, references, or simply contact information for an individual who can verify your participation. The undergraduate portfolio should consist of one or more pages of activity details, with accompanying pages of documentation of each activity. The portfolio should be submitted with the application for admission. The portfolio assessment is an integral part of the application process, and it is to the benefit of the applicant to provide as much detailed information as possible.

A description of the Undergraduate Portfolio, and a sample portfolio, may be downloaded from the Application page of the College's website.
